

The Summit

MOMS WHO LEAD

Being a mom is not a bug,
but a key-feature for future
business success
momslead.org

Leadership moms share their path, challenges and solutions - real, authentic, blunt and raw.

Take this day and learn from moms who took the leap and reached for the stars.

Thursday, September 23rd from 9am CET to 9pm CET

These leaders balance life and business.
Impact through their leadership role companies & society.
Inspire their children with love and kindness as role models.

Healthy, strong and with care for next generation!

Are you ready too?

Register today: hopin.com/events/moms-who-lead-summit

22 Interviews

Eve Simon, host of the MOMS WHO LEAD SUMMIT interviewed 22 women around the globe - from top corporate levels to entrepreneurs, who are moms AND impactful leaders. We dive into the question how they combine motherhood and career, overcame challenges, the impact leaders have on society and how do we move towards a more healthy world for next generations.

Everything will be recorded and available afterwards to listen at your own pace and in the comfort of your home.

Workshops & Panels

Join more than 12+ live & interactive sessions to explore new leadership and personal growth skills and methods to increase your impact and well-being. The sessions range from 30 minutes to 1 hour.

Networking!

Connect and engage with others around the globe - just like in the physical world. You can meet someone random or pick the brain of someone you always wanted to meet. Expand your Circle of Influence!

We believe, the purpose of business is creating value for people and the planet, holding the space for everyone to shine and bring their talents to the greater whole, to collaborate and co-create solutions which tackle the biggest challenges of our times.

Instead of following an old paradigm, created on a model of the Industrial Revolution of the 19th century, it's urgently time to shift.

To move towards a sustainable future we have to shift our thinking and actions towards an integrative approach which leads by love instead of power, cares more than it manages, places curiosity before knowledge and is built for future generations.

Who is most equipped for this job? MOTHERS.

We believe moms have a lot to offer, but often hold back and feel the barrier of combining motherhood and career.

We created this summit for you - to inspire, show different solutions and start a conversation to break through barriers of our system.

We need everyone in the conversation of change.

- MOMS ready to take the leap
- Fathers ready to share responsibilities
- Managers ready to create new cultures
- Companies ready to form new compliance

We believe in an inclusive and circular evolution and collective learning (like a living library) with many answers and solutions.

Together we rise! Together we give birth to life!
